

夏姿
'Natsusugata'

Memories of the summer winds

The flower like a woman in a Yukata enjoying the evening breeze of a summer festival. The neat appearance with purple stripes in the pure white petals captivated me. I think that the charm of the flower seems to change by the three point of view as a boyfriend, father and grandfather. The way you see it might change with get older.

Among them, I think that this flower connects Edo's summer memories with modern summer. The appearance of this flower expresses the invariable beauty of Japanese women.

I'm sure you can see this feeling by looking at this flower.

It's the feeling that the summer winds remind the 'Natsusugata'.

Kento Ujiie

Graduate School of Agriculture
Tamagawa Univ.